Coming to a Town Near You:

Get on board with the Gilston Park Estate bus tour to talk about new housing

Where will you live in 20 years?

Both Harlow Council and East Hertfordshire District Council have said they need thousands more new homes over the next 15 years as part of their Local Plan processes. The emerging District Plan is assessing a number of potential locations for these new homes – Gilston Park Estate is one of these locations.

We believe that local people need to be involved in this important debate, so we are inviting members of the community across East Hertfordshire and Harlow to join a discussion on where new homes should be built with a bus tour of the local area.

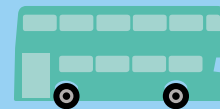

We want to share our proposals for future development of our land at Gilston Park Estate, to the North of Harlow.

Posing the question, 'Where Will You Live in 20 Years?' we will be visiting the local area with a silver double decker, asking the community to step aboard to tell us what they think - not just about new homes, but about new schools, facilities, transport and services that will benefit local communities now and in the future.

A team will be on hand to answer any questions and provide further information on what the masterplan includes and what it will mean for the community.

The bus will be touring the following areas from Thursday 19th September to Saturday 21st September 2013.

Work starts on £10m centre refurbishment

INVESTMENT: An artist's impression of the new-look centre

BUILDING work on a £10m scheme to transform the Harvey Centre into a leisure destination gets under way next week.

The first phase of the refurbishment programme to create a multi-screen cinema and up to six new restaurants will concentrate on the first floor of the shopping centre where a number of units have been left vacant in preparation for the start of work.

Centre manager Bryan Young said: "This investment has come at just the right time and it's really exciting for the people of Harlow and the surrounding towns."

"We have spaces for 726 cars, a taxi rank at one entrance and the bus station operating 24 hours a day at another, so the leisure centre will be very accessible."

The work is scheduled to be completed by the

BIANCA CASTRO

spring of next year. The centre's opening times will then be extended to enable visitors to make maximum use of the facilities.

Alex Wagstaff, a partner in Harvey Centre assets manager Addington Capital, told the Star this week: "We are delighted that work will shortly be commencing and feel our proposals will enhance not only the Harvey Centre but the vitality of the town centre as a whole."

The building work will see the creation of a new mall on the first floor along with new floors and a glass roof.

During building work the centre's shops will stay open and the existing public toilets will remain accessible. Additional toilets will be provided on the upper floor.

Direct access to the car park will be restricted to the ground floor only but all other entrances will remain open.

Councillor Rod Truan, deputy leader of Harlow Council, said: "This is brilliant news and is a real vote of confidence in the future of Harlow."

"The owners of the Harvey Centre are investing a huge amount of money to create what is sure to be a wonderful new leisure destination."

'Good Samaritan' is found guilty of attempted rape

A HARLOW man who appeared to be acting as a Good Samaritan when he took a vulnerable young woman to a hotel has been jailed for three years after being convicted of attempting to rape her.

Warehouse worker David Collison (27), of Westfield, had pleaded not guilty to rape and also denied an alternative charge of attempted rape of the 21-year-old, who the court heard had absconded from hospital after a suicide attempt.

The jury of four women and eight men at Chelmsford Crown Court convicted him of attempted rape on an 11-1 verdict. He was found not guilty of rape.

The court heard the offence took place at the Park Inn Hotel in Southern Way, Harlow, in February last year.

The prosecution, who described the defendant as "a Good Samaritan" after he offered to take her to the hotel and paid for the room, said the victim fell asleep and woke to find Collison naked on top of her. She alleged he had removed her knickers while she was asleep and pushed up her dress.

The court heard that the victim's DNA was found on his penis.

But Collison claimed that the woman had consented to sex and became angry when he was unable to perform because of the amount of alcohol he had consumed.

"Her mood seemed to change very, very quickly," he said. "She started shouting at me and seemed upset with me for some reason. She asked me what I was doing stopping and I explained I felt embarrassed and wanted to go home." Collison claimed she then threatened him. He said she had wanted him to ring her former boyfriend on her behalf and said if he did not she would accuse him of raping her.

But jailing Collison for three years and ordering him to sign the sex offenders' register indefinitely, Judge Anthony Goldstaub said he had told "hopeless lies".

"You befriended a young woman," he said. "You had both had a lot to drink and she was temporarily without a home to go to because she had fallen out with her parents. She had been, as I think you were told, in hospital for treatment for mental illness as a result of an attempt on her life she had made not long before, so she was a thoroughly vulnerable person."

"The reason you went to a hotel was a mixture of you wanting to help her and you finding her attractive and hoping that you might be able to have sexual intercourse with her," he added.

He said Collison had added "insult to injury" by accusing the complainant of lying.

Hop on board for homes site tour

THE developer behind plans to build 10,000 new homes on countryside north of Harlow is inviting the town's residents to go on a bus tour to learn more about the scheme.

Places for People, which has drawn up proposals for the development of the Gilston Park Estate, has started a consultation exercise which will include exhibitions at locations throughout the town and across East Herts.

In addition, it will be running a bus tour leaving from Sainsbury's store in Fifth Avenue from 9.30-11.30am and Sawbridgeworth Memorial Hall in The Forebury from 1.30-3.30pm next Friday (September 20) and from Harlow's Market Square the following day (September 21) from noon-4pm.

A team will be on hand to answer questions and provide further information on what the proposals entail and the impact they will have on the local environment.

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Both Harlow Council and East Herts District Council are currently developing Local Plans which must show how they can provide the large number of homes both areas need over the next 15 years.

But the plans for Gilston Park are opposed by campaign group Stop Harlow North which is fighting to protect the land.

Places for People said its proposals - a scaled down version of the original Harlow North plans - will deliver 'much-needed housing and infrastructure for the area and support lasting regeneration of Harlow'.

Group director Mary Parsons said: "We have been working on these proposals for over six years. We know from talking to people previously that there are concerns and that they want to have a say, not only where new houses will go in their area but reassurances that the investment in infrastructure can be delivered and that schools, healthcare and other facilities will be built when they are needed.

"We know people will want to know more about the impact on the countryside and existing communities and we want to talk to them about all this and more."

She added: "These homes are needed in this area to support future generations and we want a genuine discussion about where are the best locations to deliver them."

"We are committed to delivering the investment that is needed to support them and to ensuring that Gilston Park Estate will be a great place to live. We are really looking forward to hearing what people from all areas have to say."

To date no planning application has been submitted in respect of the scheme. For further information on the proposals visit www.northharlow.com.

Bus-size bear puppet to lead Greenpeace parade

THE world's largest polar bear puppet the size of a double decker bus was unveiled at North Weald Airfield on Monday by the international environmental organisation Greenpeace ahead of a global day of action to highlight the threat to the Arctic.

The three-tonne bear called Aurora will lead a parade past the Houses of Parliament and oil giant Shell's headquarters on the South Bank on Sunday.

On the same day, Arctic-themed cycling parades will be taking place in 35 countries worldwide.

The giant puppet, whose head is the size of a Smart car, was taken to North Weald Airfield for rehearsals. A team of 15

puppeteers, including artists who worked on West End theatre production of Warhorse, will operate the giant marionette from the inside using pulleys and ropes, giving it highly realistic movements.

As well as having a bear's characteristic curved gait, the puppet is fully articulated and can move her head and jaws, while the fabric-covered sides billow in the wind, creating a breathing-like motion.

Please recycle this newspaperREADERSLETTERS*New health centre would lead to loss of green wedge*SIR, My husband and I very much welcome a renovated Lister House Health Centre (Star, September 5). It will be a wonderful resource.

However, we object very strongly to two elements of the plan - the unacceptable loss of an important and large green wedge and the loss of outdoor sports areas and four large trees to a car park.

Green wedges and green fingers are a landscape design feature fundamental to the character of our town. They are more than the attractive landscapes that separate neighbourhoods and compensate for an urban neighbourhood of dense and compact housing - they are play areas for children, places to walk, relax and take in the fresh air and sun and enjoy the company of friends and family.

Green wedges need to be of sufficient size to provide a sense of connecting to the countryside.

Sir Frederick Gibberd described green wedges as "outdoor rooms" and this particular green wedge serves Staple Tye (the most deprived ward in Harlow), Great Parndon and Harlow which suffers from levels of overcrowding that are fairly high when compared to county and England averages.

Plan after plan has recognised the important role of green wedges and green fingers and stated that planning applications will only be considered for developments which do not compromise these landscape principles of the town.

These plans state that green wedges and green fingers will be protected from inappropriate development. These plans state that permission will not be granted, except for small scale development proposals and the replacement of existing buildings which do not have an adverse effect on the roles of the green wedges.

Green wedges and green fingers have received strong support from the public as shown by the opposition to large-scale development proposals, Local Plan related consultations, and the general support of over 90 per cent of the population for the protection of green spaces in the most recent Mori poll.

The plans recognise that another important feature of green wedges and green fingers is the natural habitat. They describe the importance of encouraging biodiversity by conserving and enhancing existing wildlife habitats.

The current plan applies for the felling of four large trees and the replacement of the old tennis court and the regularly used basketball court with a parking lot for 74 cars.

Green spaces and free outdoor sports facilities are critical to the healthy development of Harlow's young people. Twenty-one per cent of residents are aged 0-15 years, significantly higher than the Essex and England average. The Royal College of Paediatrics and Child Health has reported that 31 per cent of children aged 2-15 are overweight or obese, that

A great step forward in town's medical servicesDeadline looms for health centre plans*FLASHBACK: Last week's story on the Lister Medical Centre*SIR, As chairman of Friends of Lister Medical Centre, I write in response to your article in last week's Star.

At an open meeting on July 10 - organised and advertised by the Friends in conjunction with Lister Medical Centre and those concerned with the re-build - patients of the practice were invited to ask questions and express their views concerning all aspects of the scheme.

Members of the Friends have been keen to be involved and have voiced their support for a new surgery and the proposed location from the very beginning, recognising the need for a larger and more modern building to further enhance and advance the excellent care and services provided by the centre.

Following a searching question-and-answer session there was almost unanimous praise from those attending for all aspects of the scheme. As one person put it "roll on 2015 for the opening of the new centre". Personally, I am happy to endorse that view.

This will be a great step forward in the provision of general medical services in the town.

Brian Cooper (chairman)
Friends of Lister Medical Centre

at Reception and Year 6 children in the poorest 10th of the population are almost twice as likely to be obese compared to children in the most affluent 10th and that the direct cost of obesity to the NHS is estimated to be £4.2bn every year.

Additionally, the proportion of residents with no car is significantly higher in this town compared to the Essex average.

There is ample parking for those who use Lister House Health Centre at Staple Tye car park. It is used by patients who go to Lister House currently and is a much bigger car park than that afforded to patients who use the Bush Fair car park across the street from Keats House Health Centre.

Yoshimi Hester
via email (address supplied)Jobless tenants have been hit with a double whammy*SIR, The bedroom tax is a cruel attack upon the poor inflicted by central government, the implementation of which is not in the control of local authorities ("Petition calls for halt to bedroom tax court cases", Star, August 29).

Harlow Council can refuse to evict tenants who fall behind with their rent as a result of said measure, but it has no power to set the level of Housing Benefit paid to those deemed by the government to have "spare" bedrooms.

However, the council does have the power to set the level of council tax relief for jobless householders and it chose to cut it by 24 per cent for the financial year 2013-2014. Tenants in Harlow struggling to pay rent as a result of the bedroom tax face a double whammy because they also have to find the money to pay council tax for the first time.

The hundreds of poor householders in the town who have been unable to do so are being shown no mercy. Every month approximately 150 jobless council tax defaulters are taken to court in Chelmsford by Harlow Council. Once the council has obtained a Liability Order from the court it obtains an Attachment of Benefits order, by means of which it steals £3.60 per week from its victim whose only "crime" is to be without a job.

Prior to April, those on out-of-work benefits were deemed too poor to be charged council tax and received 100 per cent council tax relief in the form of Council Tax Benefit. The latter was abolished by central government and each council required to create a Localised Council Tax Support scheme.

Whereas Labour-controlled Harlow Council is demanding that poor householders pay a minimum of 24 per cent council tax, neighbouring Tory-ruled East Herts is demanding 8.5 per cent. Twenty-eight per cent of local authorities in England continue to charge zero, including Tory-run Harrogate.

Those who voted last year to oust the Tories and return Labour to power in Harlow did not do so with the expectation that the new council would steal benefit from the poor and implement Conservative-Lib Dem policy more zealously than some Tory councils.

I took my son, who was experiencing a considerable amount of pain to the point where he told me he couldn't breathe, to the A&E department at Princess Alexandra Hospital with an injury to his foot.

We arrived at about 3pm. He was seen quickly and referred to the x-ray department. After this we expected to wait for hours... but no! We were seen again and by about 4pm told he had broken his foot in three places. By 4.45pm he had a cast on and had received a lesson in the use of crutches. He was home by 5pm.

name and address suppliedAn attack on Syria could be the spark for third world war*SIR, Frank Jackson makes some powerful points about the criminal waste of blood and treasure in war and asks what Harlow can do to contribute to a more peaceful world (Letters, September 5).

Well our MP wants to attack Syria which would almost certainly mean war with their main ally Iran and possibly Russia - which has an important naval base in Syria - and China, which buys a lot of oil from Iran. So before we've even have the chance to mark the folly of the First World War we're into World War 3. How neat is that?

Perhaps the people of Harlow could contribute to a more peaceful world by changing their MP.

Musical celebration is on the cards for birthday girl Daisy

THERE will be a very special birthday celebration at a Harlow care home on Sunday when one of the residents reaches the grand old age of 100.

Daisy Staines, who lives at Ashlyns in Vicarage Wood, Harlow, will be celebrating her centenary with friends and family - two years after her brother reached the same landmark.

Daisy, who was born in Tottenham on September 15, 1913, has three brothers. Joe and George sadly passed away in 1989 and 1991 but Fred, who is 102, lives with his wife, Irene (93), in sheltered accommodation elsewhere in Harlow.

Daisy was married in 1938 to

BIANCA CASTRO

Fred who lived in the same road. He died in 1980.

She was a keen ballroom dancer in her youth and still enjoys music and dance.

On Monday the home held a pre-birthday celebration during which Harlow Council chairman Linda Pailing dropped in to offer her congratulations. Sadly Daisy's brother was unable to attend as he was feeling unwell.

However, his wife Irene - Daisy's sister-in-law - said: "Fred and I used to go ballroom dancing and Irene did, too, with her husband.

He didn't like it very much but he went with Daisy and they won a few medals from competitions and things."

Tracey Gilroy, manager at Ashlyns, said: "Everyone loves Daisy here. She is a fantastic lady with so much energy. She's always chatting to other residents and staff and she loves music.

"She still loves to dance and considering her age she's in great shape.

"We'll be holding a party for her on Sunday with lots of music like she has asked.

"It's such a lovely thing to be a part of and we all wish Daisy a very happy birthday."

Elderly woman victim of sex assault

POLICE have appealed for witnesses after a woman in her 70s was molested in Epping.

The victim was walking towards Station Approach Hill at about 2.50pm last Thursday when a young man engaged her in conversation.

He then proceeded to follow her, walking directly behind her. When she asked him to go in front as he was making her feel uncomfortable, he touched her inappropriately before turning around and running off back towards Bower Hill.

Police officers have made enquiries with local schools and are studying CCTV images.

Detective Inspector Rob Huddleston said: "The woman was not injured but left very shaken by this incident and it is important that we identify the suspect as soon as possible.

The suspect is described as white, around 15-20 years old, slim build and 5ft 2ins tall. He had messy short brown, curly hair and was wearing a patterned shirt, white shorts and white trainers or plimsolls.

Anyone with information about the incident should contact detectives at Loughton on the non-emergency 101 number.

WIN Tickets to the circus

WIN Tickets to see Annie

JAY Miller's Circus is returning to Harlow Town Park later this month. The new show for 2013 features a selection of international artists, including acts from the Hungarian State Circus, The Jumping Juniors flying high on their teeter board, Blackpool's very own Joel Hatton who defies danger at every show with his unique unicycle variation and, for the first time, every child's super hero Spiderman, taking time out from protecting the streets of America as he bounds and leaps on the vertical poles.

This week we are giving you the chance to win one of six £40 family tickets (admits four people) to a performance on either Saturday, September 21 or Sunday, September 22.

Jay Miller's Circus is a fantastic show choreographed to be suitable for a family audience.

Also starring in this exciting new production are Jodi & Ashli on the double hoop, Krisztian & Zsolia from Budapest on the hanging perch, the Men In Black, whose act challenges gravity and stamina, the delightful contortionist Paige Miller and Miss Monika.

And what circus would be complete without a clown? Testing the patience of ringmaster Ross Farrer to the limit will be that zany, unpredictable master of mayhem and mirth, Peppi.

To enter this competition visit www.harlowstar.co.uk/Whats-On-Leisure and follow the entry instructions. The closing date for entries is noon on Monday, September 16.

FOLLOWING on from the box office success of last year's production of Oliver!, Rhodes at Bishop's Stortford will be bringing the heart-warming story of the little orphan Annie to the stage.

The original Broadway production opened in 1977 and ran for nearly six years. Songs such as Tomorrow, Maybe and It's A Hard Knock Life are amongst the most popular in the entire musical theatre catalogue.

Annie tells the story of a little orphan girl who embarks on a quest to escape the vile Miss Hannigan and melt the heart of hard-nosed billionaire Oliver Warbucks.

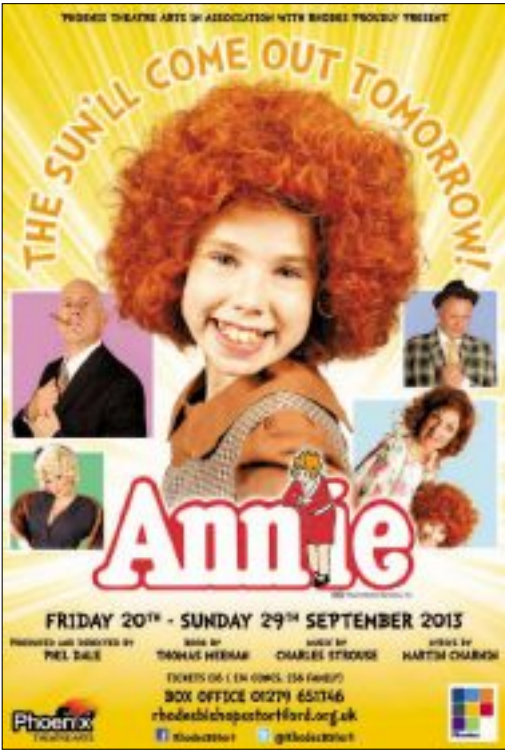

It's truly a musical for our times and a must see for the whole family! And this week we are giving you the chance to win one of three family tickets to see the show.

To enter this competition visit www.harlowstar.co.uk/Whats-On-Leisure and follow the entry instructions. The closing date for entries is noon on Monday, September 16.

The winners will be notified by email and will be contacted by Rhodes directly so tickets to the show can be reserved.

Rail services disrupted after train hits cow

RAIL services through Harlow were suspended on Sunday after a train hit and killed a cow.

Part of the eight-carriage train had to be taken out of service after it struck the animal, causing delays for passengers.

According to train operator Greater Anglia, the collision took place between Roydon and Harlow Town stations.

A replacement bus service was used to take passengers between Stansted Airport and Broxbourne.

Four arrested in immigration raids

FOUR people were arrested following raids by Home Office immigration enforcement officers in Harlow and Roydon.

Officers visited the premises of PC Fix It in the Harvey Centre where checks revealed a 25-year-old Bangladeshi man was working in breach of his visa conditions.

He was taken into immigration detention pending his removal from the country.

The following evening officers visited the Green Spice restaurant in Tylers Road, Roydon, where checks revealed three Bangladeshi members of staff were working illegally.

Cycle ride challenge to raise awareness of mental health

A CHARITY worker from Harlow is hoping to raise awareness of the stigma faced by people with a mental health problems by cycling his way around Hertfordshire and beyond.

Jonathan Clack (47), who works for national charity Rethink Mental Illness, will set off from the Recovery conference hosted by Hertfordshire Partnership University NHS Foundation Trust in Stevenage on the morning of October 10 - World Mental Health Day.

"One in four people will have a mental illness at some point in their lives so we are all either directly affected or know someone who is," he said. "For those affected, the stigma and discrimination they face can be worse than the illness itself.

"I'd like to raise as much money and awareness as possible."

Although he has not planned a route, he intends to cycle until the end of the conference at around 4pm.

"I'm not sure where I'll end up or how many miles I'll do but I want to cover as much ground as possible," he said.

As well as offering training and support for carers in his role as a carer support worker, he has also been a public governor for HPFT for two years.

Last year he cycled 100 miles from Epping to Peterborough and raised more than £200 for Rethink Mental Illness, a total he is hoping to top next month.

Lib Dems force review of street light switch-off

CONTROVERSIAL proposals to switch off street lights in Essex for five hours at midnight are to be reviewed later this month.

Essex County Council announced last week it was planning to extend part-night street lighting across the county, including Harlow where it would be implemented in February next year.

As well as saving £1m a year, the council said turning off lights between midnight and 5am would reduce energy consumption, carbon emissions and light pollution.

Town centres, key road junctions, remote footpaths and alleyways linking residential streets, will be exempt. Lighting for bus shelters, road signs and traffic bollards will also not be affected.

But now Liberal Democrat councillor Stephen Robinson, the party's highways spokesman, has implemented the county council's official call-in procedure in an attempt to challenge the proposal.

Cllr Robinson said there was concern about the impact of the proposal on public safety and has called on the council to consider using other forms of lighting technology.

"We think that Essex County Council should consider new-style low energy LED lights, lights controlled by movement sensors and other technology instead of the switch-off," he said.

"We know the council has to save money and

should also reduce its carbon footprint, but LED lights would reassure the public and be a more effective kind of lighting."

Cllr Robinson has already met with cabinet member for highways Cllr Rodney Bass and scrutiny committee chairman Cllr Simon Walsh to discuss the issue. As a result, Cllr Walsh agreed to his request for street lighting to be the main item at a meeting to take place on September 26.

Cllr Bass has agreed to attend the meeting to answer questions from councillors.

"Unfortunately the Conservatives do not allow the public to speak at Essex County Council meetings so while anyone can attend, only councillors can ask questions," said Cllr Robinson. "I will request that a Task and Finish Group is formed which then can take evidence from the public and technical experts."

Meanwhile, Harlow Council has said there must be full consultations with residents before lights are switched off.

Deputy council leader Rod Truan said: "As we have only recently been made aware of Essex County Council's plans to operate part-night street lighting across Harlow, we as community leaders need to ensure that residents are fully consulted on this issue and to review the lessons of where it has been done elsewhere."

BGT finalist to appear at Downs group's fundraising summer fete

A SUPPORT group for parents who have young children with Downs Syndrome is hosting its first fete to raise money to cover running costs and to set up another for older children with the condition.

Upwards With Downs was started in 2011 by Cristina Griffiths after her youngest daughter Francesca was diagnosed.

"We are hoping the fete will be huge," she said. "It's been a group effort in organising the event and hopefully our hard work will pay off."

"We want to raise £1,000 which will go towards continuing the group for younger children and the activities we do with them and also establishing the second group for children aged 5-18."

"We haven't established the second group because of funding so hopefully this will help us do that."

Attractions will include various stalls, face-painting, a tombola, owl handling, a barbecue and pony and cart rides.

Britain's Got Talent finalist Francine Lewis - who impersonated Alan Carr, Geri Halliwell and Katie Price during her time on the show - will also be making a guest appearance.

The fete takes place on Saturday from 11am-3pm at the Queen's Head Inn in Churchgate Street, Old Harlow. Entry costs £1 for adults with all proceeds going to Upwards With Downs.

To donate to the charity, visit www.justgiving.com/upwardswithdowns.

Therapists will be on hand to offer massages, crystal therapy, reiki, reflexology and Indian head massages. Visitors will also be able to take part in a free sound healing session.

Treatments cost £10 per 20 minutes although longer sessions will be available. There will be a light lunch and refreshments.

The rest and relaxation event takes place from 10am-4pm next Sunday (September 22). Entry to the event is £2 and includes a raffle ticket.

Singing sessions for Alzheimers

MUSIC is at the heart of the latest activity to support people living with dementia.

Singing for the Brain sessions use music to encourage communication.

"It aims to reduce social isolation by providing a relaxed and friendly network of support for people living with dementia and their carers. It's also just really good fun."

The hour-long session is held at Moot House, are run every Thursday during September from 10.30am. For more information call (01279) 418331.

A SINGER and aspiring actor is halfway through a fundraising challenge as he prepares to tackle his second Great North Run to raise money for Cancer Research UK.

Stief A Billy, frontman of local psychobilly band The Noxious Toyz, is taking part in the BUPA Great North Run this Sunday.

He was inspired to take on the charity challenge after losing both his parents to the disease.

"I want to stand up and be counted in this fight against cancer and make a difference," said Stief, pictured right. "The support I have been receiving has been overwhelming. I'm still getting people sharing their stories relating to cancer and their messages of support."

"It's really nice and just extra motivation for me to do well."

As well as training for the run, Stief has also been busy with new film and music projects - Green Street 3, zombie feature Welcome to Essex and gangster film spoof The Hooligan Factory which are all to be released in the near future.

"With not long to go I've been training every day running about 10 miles," he said. "I have moved training outside from the gym and it is much harder."

"I'm really looking forward to the run, though, it should be good."

Stief, who lives at The Stow in Harlow, raised £332 after completing a 10km run in June and is now hoping to raise an additional £400 for the cancer charity.

"Fundraising is going quite well," he said. "I've nearly reached my target of £400 but the more I raise the better."

To sponsor Stief visit www.justgiving.com/Stief-A-Billy or text TOON75 plus the donation amount to 70070.

Ambulance trust publishes plan to improve services

AN action plan drawn up by bosses of the region's under-fire ambulance service is promising better patient care and service delivery.

The East of England Ambulance Service NHS Trust has published the plan in response to recommendations in a Care Quality Commission report and its own turnaround plan prepared earlier this year.

It said at the heart of the new plan was the workforce, leadership, finance and governance.

"A great deal of hard work went into pulling together the new integrated plan to ensure we covered the recommendations in the independent governance review, the issues raised by the Care Quality Commission and our own turnaround plan published in April," said EEA's chief executive Andrew Morgan.

"In essence, we focus on how we need more frontline staff and ambulances, the ways in which we can be more efficient and the strong leadership needed for all teams."

The plan marks the next phase of organisational transformation to improve and maintain performance across the East of England.

A spokesman said the trust recognised it still faced a number of challenges and aims to get to patients quicker across the region by having more ambulances, providing a high quality clinical response and supporting staff to deliver excellent care, and had been working closely with the NHS Trust Development Authority which will provide performance management support.

However, the plan also highlights that changing the organisation will take considerable time and more work is needed to improve response times and service delivery as demand rises, particularly during the busy summer and winter periods.

Award-winning bakers keen to make a dough-nation to hospice

THE owners of a bakery in Old Harlow are using their loaf to raise some dough for St Clare Hospice.

Nick and Jane Anderson are hosting a 'Meet the Baker' event next month to share some of the secrets that go into making their award-winning artisan bread and cakes.

Master Baker Nick, who can trace his family's baking heritage back to the 17th century, will be explaining how he produces his loaves using locally-sourced ingredients and how the baking trade has changed in the 350 years that his family has been making bread.

Following a glass of organic elderflower bubbly on arrival, guests will watch Nick at work as he kneads and shapes the dough so they can try out his techniques in their own kitchen.

Participants will take home a complimentary loaf to enjoy and the demonstration will be followed by a lunch of quiche of the day.

It is the second event the couple, who live at Allens Green near Sawbridgeworth, have organised in aid of St Clare.

They are long-term supporters of the charity as Nick's mother, Gwen Anderson, was cared for at the Hastingwood hospice before she died in November 2006. Gwen and husband Leslie owned about five bakeries in the Harlow area in the 1970s.

Jane, pictured above, said: "She was looked after magnificently while she was at St Clare. It's such a vital service and having experienced just how much the hospice does and how much it relies on donations from the public, we feel it's really important to do what we can to support its work."

The 'Meet the Baker' event will take place at Mayfield Farm Bakery, in Sheering Road, on Thursday, October 10 and is certain to be popular. Tickets costing £15 (including lunch) can be booked by calling the St Clare fundraising team on (01279) 773750.

Football fan chased man along street with a knife

A FOOTBALL fan who chased a man along a street brandishing a knife in a bout of rage after the North London derby between Spurs and Arsenal has been spared a jail sentence.

Chelmsford Crown Court heard the incident followed a row between Daniel Hampton and a third man in the aftermath of the match on March 3 this year.

Hampton (24), of Risdens, Harlow, had watched the match which Spurs won at a local pub. Later he emerged from his home brandishing the knife, which had a six-seven inch blade and chased an innocent bystander 100 yards along the street.

Prosecutor Richard Stevens told the court that before the chase Hampton said to the victim: "You're one of the geezers."

The victim called the police and then went back and saw Hampton run out of his home shouting: 'I'm going to kill you.' Afterwards police found the knife in his house.

Hampton pleaded guilty to a charge of having a bladed article in a public place.

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Graham Logan, representing Hampton, said in mitigation the incident followed the football match when an Arsenal fan, who had been annoyed, had gone to Hampton's address, kicked over his motorbike and stamped on it. He had also banged on the doors of the property.

Passing sentence, recorder Guy Ayers told the defendant: "This was obviously a very serious incident indeed - arming yourself with a knife and taking it out in a public place - but it is aggravated by chasing this man for some distance."

"All this arose out of who won and lost a football match and when the police arrived you were still showing some aggression."

In addition to the six-month suspended jail sentence, Hampton was ordered to be placed under supervision for 18 months, attend a Thinking Skills programme and carry out 60 hours of unpaid work.

MORE than one in 10 people living in Harlow is a migrant, according to figures released this week by Oxford University.

The report from the university's Migration Observatory is based on statistics from the 2011 Census and compares them with data from the previous Census carried out in 2001.

It shows that in 2011 Harlow was home to 9,470 foreign residents out of a total of 81,944, representing 11.5 per cent of the town's population.

This compares with a level of 11 per cent (642,215 out of 5,842,965) for the whole of the East of England region which has the third largest migrant population in England and Wales – after London and the South East – following a 70 per cent increase in settlers between 2001 and 2011.

In that same 10-year period Harlow has seen a 94.6 per cent increase in migrants.

The national level is 13 per cent, although the impact of London's very high proportion of migrants affects the national figures.

Senior researcher Dr Carlos Vargas-Silva, who led the first comprehensive Census analysis of regional migrant population, cited "Eastern European migration for work purposes", "student migration to cities like Cambridge" and "family migration to areas with established migrant populations" as the biggest contributing factors.

Inhabitants originally from Poland represent the largest non-UK born group regionally, with groups from India, Ireland, USA and Pakistan not far behind. The figures for Harlow are Poland (10.5 per cent), Ireland (8.53 per cent), India (7.7 per cent), Pakistan (3.59 per cent) and the United States (1 per cent).

Of the 5.3 per cent of people in the region who did not speak English as their first language, 80 per cent could speak it well or very well and only three per cent did not speak any English at all.

The five main languages spoken by people whose mother tongue was not English were Polish, Urdu, Chinese, Bengali and Lithuanian.

Reacting to the report, Harlow Council leader Mark Wilkinson said: "This is a town where diversity is welcomed and celebrated. Through independent surveys Harlow residents tend to agree that people from different backgrounds get on well together and this is something of which we should be proud.

"The figures released by Oxford University follow national Census trends which show that the country, eastern region and Harlow - which was originally populated by families moving from London - has become a more multicultural and diverse place.

"I know that the release of these figures will bring with it myths about migrants automatically getting council housing in the town which is a concern of residents. These myths do not represent the facts.

"Based on the official Census data for Harlow the majority of non-UK residents privately rent or own their own home whereas over nine in 10 residents who rent from Harlow Council or a housing association are UK residents."

Lessons start at new Polish school

A NEW school teaching the language, history, culture and geography of Poland opens its doors in Harlow this weekend.

The Polish Saturday School - or Polska Szkoła Przedmiotów Ojczyzn - is aimed at children aged three-16. It already has almost 90 students on its books.

Teachers Ewa Whiting (29), of Rushton Grove, Harlow, and Jwona Schulz-Nalepka (29) from Chingford - pictured above - decided to set up the school after Mrs Whiting, her husband and their two young children moved to Harlow and found a strong Polish community in the town.

"We have around 10 teachers, two assistants and 87 students," said Mrs Whiting, who taught in London before the move.

"We'll be teaching the Polish language, literature, history and geography and we will also be offering English classes to parents and families."

The school officially opens on Saturday. Prospective students can still sign up between 10-11am.

Mrs Whiting added: "I'm really excited for the school to open. It's like a dream come true to be able to do something like this.

"There's room to grow and hopefully in the future we will offer Polish lessons to those who want to learn a new language.

"It will be just like a normal school so we have a curriculum and set teachers for different classes. For the older groups there are different teachers for different subjects.

"We also offer a Polish GCSE and we can do A-levels as well. There are lots of opportunities."

The school also offers English lessons to Polish parents.

The Polish Saturday School runs from 9.20am to 12.50pm at Passmores Academy in Traceys Road. The cost is £16 per month.

Treasure hunt family strikes gold

AN American family who have spent years hunting for sunken treasure have finally struck gold. Rich Schmitt and his family found Spanish gold chains and coins off the Florida coast after years of searching.

It is thought the treasure was being carried aboard one of the ships in a convoy that was sunk in 1715 after being caught up in a hurricane.

By law, the state of Florida will take some of the gold for display in a museum.

The rest of the hoard, thought to be worth about £200,000, will be divided between the Schmitt family and the company that owns the wreckage.

Mr Schmitt told reporters there was "excitement, followed by a lot of crying" after the discovery. "This is like the end of a dream," he said.

Hospital handed £5.7m in winter funding

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW'S Princess Alexandra Hospital has been given an injection of Government cash to prepare for extra pressure on services during the winter.

Health Secretary Jeremy Hunt announced that PAH has been allocated £5.7m which will go towards the hospital's A&E department.

Jules Martin, chief operating officer at Princess Alexandra Hospital, said the announcement was good news for patients.

"It is not just about extra funding for A&E but for the whole hospital's winter plan," he said. "Our A&E 'front door' is only one important part of the hospital and we are working really hard to improve the patient experience throughout the whole of the trust."

Harlow MP Robert Halfon also welcomed the additional funding. "For the hardworking NHS staff that serve my constituents this extra money will be a welcome boost this winter when A&E departments come under most pressure," he told the Star.

"This grant for PAH clearly shows the Government is interested in Harlow. I am really pleased and it is a fantastic result. It is a tribute to the hospital who applied for the grant and everything they are doing for the people of Harlow."

Speaking in the House of Commons Mr Halfon praised the "outstanding hospital with outstanding staff".

He also invited Mr Hunt to visit PAH to see for himself the "excellent" work that is being done there. Mr Hunt replied that he would be delighted to accept the invitation.

The £5.7m winter funding comes on top of a Government grant of £470,000 to St Clare Hospital.

>>PAH has recently been shortlisted for the Health Service Journal's new award for Compassionate Patient Care sponsored by the Department of Health. The winner will be announced in November.

'Parity' for mental health

MENTAL health will be on the agenda at next week's annual meeting of North Essex Partnership in Harlow.

The keynote speaker will be Lindsay
Wilkinson, deputy director of mental health strategy at the Department of Health, who will talk about mental health being given 'parity of esteem' with physical health.

The meeting will be held at the Latton Bush
Centre in Southern Way next Wednesday
(September 18), starting at 3pm with a school drama competition and followed by the meeting at 5pm.

Together we can tackle anti-social behaviour

IT'S been a very busy month across the neighbourhoods, which always seems to be the case in August with the holiday period bringing more pressure on our teams.

During the summer holiday period the council opens paddling pools across the town and this always proves very popular with families. With the warm weather this year near record numbers attended the pools and the very positive news was that there were very few incidents of nuisance or anti-social behaviour.

In general, reports of anti-social behaviour in Harlow are lower than in many other parts of Essex. Actions taken jointly by ourselves with Harlow Council often can lead to resolutions of long-standing problems. For example a warrant was recently executed in Old Harlow whereby sound systems and speakers were seized from an address which had been the subject of complaints about extreme noise.

We are aware that we are not solving every problem and you must continue to let us know about any ongoing issues.

Work is continuing against a group of 'drinkers' causing problems near the town centre. Two males have been given full-blown anti-social behaviour orders (ASBOs) and one of them has recently left Harlow completely due to being continually arrested and imprisoned for breaching the order.

PC Tim Knights is now gathering evidence against a third male and we are hoping for similar success against this third nuisance.

OUR crime reduction specialist Graham Anthony is working hard at re-launching Neighbourhood Watch in Harlow. This is particularly aimed at preventing house burglaries, a horrible crime to suffer.

If you want more information about the programme visit www.harlowneighbourhoodwatch.co.uk or call 07546 293072.

I am looking at launching a Speedwatch programme for Harlow whereby local people can take part in speed awareness road checks.

Basically, you can be trained by us to use a speed gun and drivers found speeding get a letter informing them about their speed or anti-social driving.

By Sergeant Rob Cox
Harlow Neighbourhood Policing Team

If you are interested in this programme please contact me via www.rob.cox@essex.pnn.police.uk or call 101 and ask for extension 300252.

LAST week the neighbourhood teams were visited by a Parliamentary overseer – Lord Jan Simon – who accompanied officers whilst on patrol on their beats.

He was shown around various parts of Harlow and told how police have tackled drug dealing and anti-social behaviour issues across the town.

Lord Simon visited Brockles Mead, Passmores, Barn Mead and Northbrooks. He will report his findings back to the House of Lords and the House of Commons as part of a review of procedures and any issues where we are failing will be passed back.

THE neighbourhood teams have been supporting activity around the Harlow Islamic Centre at Kingsmoor following the recent appalling arson attack.

If you have not done so already, please look at the Harlow Star or Essex Police websites - www.harlowstar.co.uk and www.essexpolice.uk - and view CCTV footage of the suspects.

Four males have now been arrested but we need your help to solve this offence which is an attack on all faiths and communities.

Confidential information on this or any crime can be passed via Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

On parade with the New Town's park rangers motorcycle gang

HARLOW residents have always been great supporters of the town's green spaces tucked among the busy centres and housing developments.

But did you know that back in the early years of the New Town it had its own group to protect these areas.

The picture above - taken from George Taylor's wonderful book The Archive Photographs Series, Harlow - shows the Park and Forest Rangers on parade with their motorcycles at The Stow in 1955.

New recruits received a certificate of membership setting out the Rangers' promise to "protect the trees, woods and greens and the birds and animals". It was signed by the group's chairman, who in 1955 was Richard Costain, and the general manager of the Harlow Development Corporation.

Odeon cinema first to open after WWII

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW can celebrate many firsts - the first tower block, the first of the post-war new towns to have its own newspaper and the first community sport centre of its kind to be named as such. But there's another first that film fans can be proud to share.

The Odeon cinema in West Gate, which was closed down eight years ago this month, was the first cinema built in Britain after the Second World War. It was officially opened in February 1960.

The first film to be screened at the Odeon, which was a single floor when it first opened, was Follow A Star featuring that much-loved comedy actor Norman Wisdom and June Laverick.

The cinema was also the first to be opened by the Odeon group since 1937.

The building, which was designed by T.P. Bennett & Son, closed temporarily in June 1987 when it was converted into a multi-screen moviehouse.

The rear stalls were converted into two smaller screens while the original main screen retained its original box, screen and features.

SAY IT WITH FLOWERS: Dinah Davis, wife of Rank Organisation managing director John Davis, is handed a bouquet by a young Harlow resident at the cinema opening

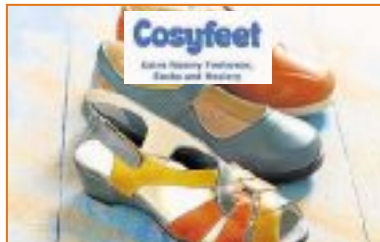

In 2001 the cinema was refurbished again to bring it up to the 21st century and Odeon's new style. But sadly the competition from the new six-screen multiplex in Edinburgh Way, which opened in 1990, proved too much and Harlow's first cinema finally closed its doors in 2005 and it has remained empty ever since.

>>>Do you remember going to see films at the Odeon cinema? If so, share your memories by calling (01279) 400577, emailing star@hertsessexnews.co.uk or by sending them in to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW.

The Guide

TV star Pauline to open performing arts school

A NEW branch of a performing arts academy started by BAFTA-nominated actress Pauline Quirke is to open in Harlow.

The academy will be held at The Playhouse under the guidance of principal Lee Ellaway, pictured with some of the students from the Bishop's Stortford academy which he set up a year ago.

For the past six years Pauline - who has a list of television credits to her name including Maisie Raine, David Copperfield, and Broadchurch as well as 101 episodes playing the role of Sharon in Birds of a Feather - and her husband Steve have been building up a network of academies throughout the country.

"Largely thanks to Lee's local reputation and his wonderful team of tutors, all the places available in my Stortford academy were filled upon launch" she said.

"The demand was even greater than we experienced in most of the cities in which PQA is based, so this has given us the impetus to expand into Harlow.

"When I heard that we had secured residency at the Harlow Playhouse I was even more excited!"

The academies deliver a blend of hour-long sessions in comedy and drama, musical theatre, film and television. Students are taught in age groups of 4-18 by specialist teachers.

"I think the world has changed since I was at drama school," said Pauline. "It's all fame, fame now and at almost any cost. And yes, although an acting career is a great one, it can also be a road of disappointment that not all are prepared for.

"I know that Lee agrees with me that there is so much more you can get from training in performance arts than a career. It builds confidence by the bucketload, creates bonds, teaches respect, and even how to listen".

Playhouse general manager Scott Ramsay said "I'm delighted to welcome the Pauline Quirke Academy as a new resident company at the Playhouse. Cross-disciplinary performing arts training has transformed the lives of thousands of young people across the world, and in PQA's four-strand approach, participants can be sure of top-quality training, care and attention.

"Being part of a performing arts school isn't only for those interested in the profession; it provides the environment for developing numerous life skills, which are transferable into the workplace and adulthood, giving people a highly valuable leg-up in life."

>>>The academy will be hosting a free open day at the Playhouse on Sunday, September 29 from 1.45-5pm at which Lee and his team will be giving sample classes across all age groups. To enrol in the academy or to register for a place at the open day, visit www.pqacademy.com/locations/harlow or call Lee on 07540 994 957 or email lee@pqacademy.com.

Gallery to hold second auction of postcard art

TOWN centre arts gallery Gatehouse Arts is calling on artists and photographers to submit entries to its second Secret Postcard Exhibition and Auction.

Following the success of the first event which made £700 for charity, the gallery in West Gate, Harlow, is holding another mini-art fundraiser.

The artworks will be sold in a secret auction to raise money for St Clare Hospice and the Association for Cultural Advancement through Visual Art.

Anyone is welcome to submit up to three pieces of postcard art with the only restrictions being the size of the piece - all entries must measure 6ins x 4ins - and must be original works.

All entries will be put on display from October 14-November 15 during which visitors can leave bids for their favourites. The auction will be held on November 16 from 6pm.

To enter a piece of work simply take it to the gallery or post it to Gatehouse Arts, 19 West Gate, Harlow, Essex CM20 1JR.

Playground fight that ends up in a dark comedy of bad manners

WHAT do you get when you put four adults in a room to resolve a falling out among their children?

Smiles and polite but mundane chatter or arguing, swearing and a few emotionally-fuelled incidents?

Harlow Theatre Company's latest offering allowed audiences to find out just what happens when civil becomes uncouth.

The God of Carnage is a 90-minute play which is set in motion by a fight between two 11-year-old boys. It is this conflict that causes the four parents to come together and discuss their sons' argument and how their playground bust-up can best be dealt with.

It is a fantastic, well-executed play and very much driven by the four characters

REVIEW

THE GOD OF CARNAGE
Harlow Theatre Company
Victoria Hall, Old Harlow

- Veronique (played by Liz Carter), and her husband Michel (Steve Hannam) and husband and wife Alain (Clive Weatherley) and Annette (Wendy Grant).

All four gave brilliant performances as parents who drop the graces and pretences to defend their children and themselves.

But it was the small movements - the eye-rolls, the gulping and the uncomfortable stares - that really bought this dark comedy to life and pushed the audience straight into the living room and into the action.

There were plenty of laugh-out-loud moments as I saw my own movements, my speech and my expressions delivered so naturally in the performances of the four leads as they ventured into a downward spiral with manners, civility - and a lot more - thrown to the wind. That is what made it such a great show - the audience can see themselves in the characters and can't help but laugh a little harder as a result.

Harlow Theatre Company surpassed this reviewer's expectations with The God of Carnage. All praise to director Sharon Wilson who so successfully portrayed human interaction when pushed to its very limits.

GARDENING & PUZZLES

Green green grass of home

AFTER a summer of being dried out by heat and trampled on by outdoor activities, your lawn may be looking a bit tired. If you want to restore any bare patches, or are even thinking of sowing a completely new lawn, early autumn is a good time to do it.

But how do you choose the type of seed for the job from the array of different grass seeds on the market?

Help is at hand from Which? Gardening, the Consumers' Association magazine, which has just revealed the results of its test on 36 lawn seed mixes and repair kits, assessing both germination and appearance of the grass and coverage of each plot at monthly intervals.

Best overall lawn seed mix is Asda Multipurpose (£3 for 500g), which the survey says will give you a great looking lawn. In the trial, it established quickly, gave a dense, finer-leaved turf, was among the best in terms of coverage and appearance and recovered well after wear-and-tear tests.

The next highest scorer was Mr Fothergill's Better Lawn (£5.99 for 500g, available from garden centres), which looked good throughout the autumn and following spring, recovered quickly after the wear-and-tear tests and had produced a dense sward by the end of the trial.

For those just repairing their lawn, the researchers recommend Miracle-Gro Patch Magic (£9.99 for 1kg, Tesco), which worked exceptionally well in the trial and established quickly. The plastic shaker contains coir and fertiliser with very little grass seed. The coir shows where you've scattered it and indicates where it needs watering. The grass is fine-leaved and green, but didn't cope as well with wear-and-tear as other recommended lawn seeds.

Other recommended lawn-seed mixes include Wilko Multipurpose with ryegrass (£6 for 750g, Wilkinson), which produced tough grass with a good density throughout the trial, and Verve Quick Start (£3.98 for 500g, B&Q) which was one of the first in the test to germinate and completely cover the ground.

If you are sowing a new lawn, you'll need to dig over the area thoroughly to allow free drainage, removing stones and weeds as you go, then incorporate organic matter such as compost or well-rotted manure. On heavy clay incorporate sharp grit and organic soil conditioner. On light soils just incorporate the organic matter.

Firm the ground by laying a plank of wood on it and walking over it several times. Then move the plank across the site until the whole area is firmed, but not compacted.

Next rake the area to produce a fine 'tilth' on which to sow the seed. You may need to rake repeatedly until the ground is level and the surface is crumbly.

Make sure you buy good quality grass seed which is the current season's stock and choose the type to suit your needs. A lawn for a family-friendly garden may include a mixture of dwarf perennial ryegrasses to withstand heavy use, while a lawn just to look upon might be a mixture of fine tufted grasses. Always follow the instructions on the packet about seed distribution and don't be tempted to sow more thickly than recommended.

To repair your lawn, loosen the soil in the bare patch with a fork, scatter grass seed and fertiliser over the area and rake lightly to work the seed into the soil.

Water if it's dry and cover with netting or fleece to keep off birds.

Racetrack rivalry fuels a supercharged thriller

certificate 15, 2h02m

TO truly excel in a chosen field you need to be challenged, pushed to the limit of human endurance to find previously untapped reserves of strength and courage.

For this reason sport is littered with bitter rivalries between incredible champions, whose desire to win - regardless of the consequences and the physical risks - inspires awe and devotion.

Some of the fiercest rivalry has been fought out on Formula 1 racetracks, none more so than during the 1970s when rubber burned and tempers frayed between two very different drivers - charismatic ladies' man James Hunt and incredibly ambitious Austrian speed fiend Niki Lauda.

Their daredevil duels reached a horrifying crescendo at the 1976 German Grand Prix at the Nurburgring when Lauda's Ferrari burst into flames, trapping him in the inferno. An incredible six weeks later, Lauda emerged from hospital with extensive scarring, determined to prevent Hunt from claiming the chequered flag at Monza.

This incredible story of courage and resilience is dramatised in Rush, Ron Howard's superb biopic that charts the rivalry between Hunt (Chris Hemsworth) and Lauda (Daniel Bruhl) from their early days through to the glamour of the Grand Prix circus.

The two men have very different approaches to their craft. Hunt relishes the trappings of fame while Lauda is devoted to testing, working his mechanics into the ground to shave a few hundredths off lap times at the expense of personal relationships.

Directed with brio and turbocharged by stirring performances from Hemsworth and Bruhl, Rush is a riveting evocation of a bygone era. An uplifting story of admiration and friendship puffs beneath the bonnet of Howard's direction, offering plenty of high-speed thrills for petrolheads.

Screenwriter Peter Morgan selects the choicest cuts of the facts for the big screen, including horrific scenes at the hospital where a badly burnt Lauda drifts in and out of consciousness but still musters enough strength to growl, "Tell the priest to get lost. I'm still alive!"

Howard's film pulsates with the same vitality, painting a vivid portrait of men who lived on the edge in an era when racing was genuinely a dance of death.

INSIDIOUS - CHAPTER 2

certificate 15, 1h45m

When we last met Josh Lambert (Patrick Wilson) and his wife Renai (Rose Byrne), they had moved into a new house with their sons Dalton (Ty Simpkins) and Foster (Andrew Astor) where dark forces prevailed.

Josh's mother Lorraine (Barbara Hershey) invited her supernaturally gifted friend Elise Rainier (Lin Shaye) to cleanse the property, aided by Specs and Tucker. In the ensuing battle between good and evil, Elise gave up her life to shepherd Josh and Dalton between the corporeal and spirit worlds.

This sequel opens with a flashback to 1986 and Elise's first encounter with young Josh. Fast-forwarding to the present day, police probe Elise's demise, forcing the Lamberts to move in with Lorraine.

The family prays the nightmarish ordeal is over but of course it's not. Josh begins to behave erratically, which sets poor Renai on edge and her nerves are shredded when she is attacked by a ghostly figure (Danielle Bisutti) in the living room.

Weird episodes increase in frequency and Lorraine approaches Elise's old cohort Carl (Steve Coulter) in the hope that he can connect with the dearly departed.

WHITE HOUSE DOWN

certificate 12A, 2h11m

John Cale (Channing Tatum) is an ex-soldier, who is assigned to protect the Speaker of the House, Eli Raphelson (Richard Jenkins), when he would much rather be part of the Secret Service detail protecting President James Sawyer (Jamie Foxx).

An interview for promotion conducted by Carol Finnerty (Maggie Gyllenhaal) goes badly and John licks his wounds by joining his daughter Emily (Joey King) on a guided tour of the White House just as a heavily armed paramilitary group led by Emil Stenz (Jason Clarke) prepares to take control of the building.

A devastating blast beneath the rotunda of the US Capitol signals the start of the hostilities and Stenz and his men sweep through rooms and corridors, shooting guards until the perimeter and hostages are secure.

With the President's life in the balance, Vice President Alvin Hammond (Michael Murphy) takes to the skies with his team aboard Air Force One. Back on the ground, Carol and her team including General Caulfield (Lance Reddick) discuss a military solution to the crisis.

Meanwhile, John does what any father would to protect his tearful daughter: he grabs a gun and single-handedly takes on the bad guys.

JUSTIN AND THE KNIGHTS OF VALOUR

certificate PG, 1h36m

Justin (voiced by Freddie Highmore) is a sweet-natured boy who dreams of becoming a valiant knight like his grandfather, Sir Roland. However, the Queen (Olivia Williams) has banished knights from her kingdom and has placed her trust instead in lawyers including Justin's father Reginald (Alfred Molina), who wants him to abandon his dreams and pursue justice instead.

During a visit to his gran (Julie Walters), Justin is inspired to defy his father and joins forces with a plucky barmaid called Talia (Saoirse Ronan) and a soothsayer called Malquidades (Williams). He also gains valuable training from three wise monks - Blucher (James Cosmo), Legantir (Charles Dance) and Braulio (Barry Humphries) - at the fabled Tower of Wisdom.

Meanwhile, banished Sir Heradio (Mark Strong) and his sidekick Sota (Everett) exploit the absence of the knights to plot a coup.

Aries 21 March - 20 April
You may decide to narrow your focus and give one project or idea your all. But you could meet a few obstacles along the way - including temporary low self-esteem, plus some people who may not see things as you do. The Pisces Full Moon may also undermine your efforts to get ahead, yet despite all of this, with willpower you can make progress. Call now for more news and advice...

Taurus 21 April - 21 May
Trying to get your message across could prove awkward this week, especially as others may have very different views. At times, you may have to agree to disagree. However, don't let someone manipulate you into taking up their cause. Yet, you can make headway in a relationship, as long as you're willing for something to change and be flexible. Call me now for more astral advice...

Gemini 22 May - 21 June
There may be intense issues around wellness and work matters this week. If something has been bugging you and affecting your energy levels or relationships with co-workers, then it may be time for a new approach. This week's planetary energies encourage you to start the ball rolling and take action that can make a difference. Look to remove any obstacles. Call for more astral advice...

Cancer 22 June - 23 July
You may feel as though a relationship is being tested, especially as a Saturn Pluto link can bring intense energies to bear in romantic or business connections. This influence gradually develops over the week, and may help you make a decision that you're willing to stand by. It's as though you finally know what you want and what to do about it. Call for more news and astral advice...

Leo 24 July - 23 August
Conversation may be buoyant, lively and at times inspiring, especially if you're searching for answers to an ongoing problem. However, a situation on the domestic front may eclipse other aspects of your life, so you may need to look deeply into your options. Lifestyle changes as well as family issues, may all figure in your plan of action. Call for more news and astral advice...

Virgo 24 August - 23 Sept.
A Pisces Full Moon lights up your partnership zone, highlighting certain feelings and perhaps confusing things too. This is because Saturn's link to Pluto suggests that you may be reading more into a romantic situation than is really there. It might help to remove your projections to see what's actually going on - as doing so may bring insight. Call for more news and astral advice...

Libra 24 Sept. - 23 Oct.
You may feel in your element as the Sun moves into your sign later this week Libra, helping you become focused on your own needs and desires. With Mercury also working on your behalf, you may want to share your thoughts and feelings. It might seem that some people don't want to hear, but don't let them put you off from speaking your truth. Call for more news and astral advice...

Scorpio 24 Oct. - 22 Nov.
As Venus combines with Saturn, in your sign, you may feel awkward or uncomfortable about making a decision that could be quite urgent. The connection between Saturn and Pluto, your personal planet, may also feel as if you are under some kind of pressure to come up with the right answer. Once you do Scorpio, it may feel like a relief to have made a decision. Call for more...

Sagittarius 23 Nov. - 21 Dec.
You may have some interesting conversations with friends this week, even if you can't always agree. Yet, this isn't likely to stop you from getting out and enjoying yourself, especially as current influences seem to be pushing you to explore ideas that could expand your horizons. Changes around what you value most could also be highly significant. Call for more news...

Capricorn 22 Dec. - 20 Jan.
Watch what you say and the way you say it, especially around the time of the Pisces Full Moon, as there could be confusion just when you're hoping for clarity. At the same time, a potent planetary influence may coincide with feelings of pressure to fulfill a goal, keep a promise or make a change. However, if it's something you really want, you'll do it. Call for more news and advice...

Aquarius 21 Jan. - 19 Feb.
A positive Mercury Mars connection can be helpful for discussing ideas that have expansive qualities. Collaborating with someone as keen as you may help you bring your plans to fruition more easily. Meanwhile, the Pisces Full Moon could bring a financial challenge. Don't be in a rush to resolve this - only make your move once you have all the facts. Call for more advice...

Pisces 20 Feb. - 20 March
A Full Moon in your sign midweek can bring powerful feelings to the surface, which could cloud your judgment for a day or two. However, you might need to focus on an intense issue that could require a plan of action. This challenge could initially leave you in a spin, yet once it's resolved, you may feel you've benefitted by going through the experience. Call for more news and advice...

Tracey Waples Property Editor

WITH house prices way beyond the reach of many, it's no surprise to hear that there has been a 15 per cent rise in people taking in lodgers to help pay the mortgage.

Renting out a room has become a very popular way for couples and single people to boost their income in recent years. Insurance company LV has found in a recent poll that there are 210,000 homes with lodgers, paying an average of £4,700 a year in rent. Thanks to the Government's Rent-A-Room scheme, £4,250 of that is tax free.

Renting space in your home is one of the easiest ways to make money while you sleep but if you don't like the idea of someone you don't know (or even someone you do know) sharing your home, there are ways to make it more bearable.

Successful renting is all in the planning. Make sure you kit out the room to a decent standard so that it is attractive to renters. Often, the better the standard, the better the lodger. If you can offer a room with en-suite facilities you will be able to charge more.

Once you're ready, you can advertise it online. Some good places to try are Gumtree.com, SpareRoom.co.uk, Letsdirect and Easyroommate.com.

If you find someone you think is a potential candidate, make sure you take references. Ask for and check at least two. These will ideally be from previous landlords and employers. Call them instead of sending them an email. It's much easier to make up a reference by email. To be really sure, you could also ask for a letter from their bank.

Guide price of £375,000-£400,000

THIS charming home at Park Avenue on the outskirts of Hastingwood is within easy reach of both the M11 and the Tube station at Epping.

The versatile accommodation includes four generous size bedrooms and a lounge with double doors on to the garden.

The large garden includes brick-built outbuildings which are ideal for an office and potential workshop with light and power connected and a separate circuit board. There is also further space for a workshop/storage shed/summerhouse. The garden backs onto open farmland. The Harlow office of Haart has full details on (01279) 443311.

■ IAIN DOOLEY

FOR a company famous for producing utility 4x4s with a hint of 'old money' luxury, Land Rover's move into the lifestyle end of the market – with the Evoque – has been nothing short of a life-altering experience for the British brand.

You name it, it's skyrocketed: production numbers, brand awareness, sales, profits. Granted, the Evoque wasn't the company's first foray into the 'lifestyle' market, that honour fell to the first generation Range Rover Sport. That said, it shared more than a few design cues with the equally chunky-looking Range Rover and Land Rover Discovery.

That's all gone the way of the dinosaur with the arrival of the latest generation Range Rover Sport. Visual similarities to the Evoque, the rock star of the range, are no coincidence, while Land Rover's continued focus on reducing weight and boosting the level of technology in its cars continues with this more streamlined Sport.

Fact File

Range Rover Sport SDV6 Autobiography

£74,995

ENGINE: 3.0-litre diesel unit
TRANSMISSION: 8-speed automatic*
PERFORMANCE: Max 138mph, 0-62mph 7.2secs
ECONOMY: 37.7mpg
CO² RATING: 199g/km

Lighter, more economical and offering a more engaging on-road driving experience than the car it replaces, alongside Land Rover's long established off-road credentials, this new generation Sport also boasts more cabin space plus the option of a family-friendly third row of seats.

One other option worthy of note is the car's high-low transfer gearbox. Reflecting its on-road and lifestyle bias, it's not now a feature you can expect to see as standard on the Sport. Land Rover executives are, however, keen to stress that even without it, the Sport's off-roading potential still easily exceeds the abilities of most drivers and the competition.

And, just like with the latest Range Rover, the Sport adopts its maker's next-gen Terrain Response system, which includes an auto mode clever enough to sense changes in terrain and change the engine, gearbox and suspension settings accordingly. Manual control remains and, despite the Sport's streamlined looks and glossy celebrity endorsements, you're only a few button presses away from being able to confidently scale mountains, wade through rivers or charge through power-sapping sand. The final piece in the Range Rover Sport's performance jigsaw is the car's engine line-up. For maximum wow factor there's a 5.0-litre supercharged petrol motor that's predictably destined to be most popular in places where petrol is cheap and owners are super-rich. For the rest of us, diesel will be the fuel of choice, with a high power 3.0-litre SDV6 variant boasting 292 horsepower and a lower power version for entry-level models producing a still useful 258 horsepower. V8 diesel power is also in the pipeline.

On the road the high power six-cylinder diesel Sport is only trumped by the supercharged model in the way it sounds; the former is quiet and refined while the petrol experience is dominated by a Nascar exhaust note if that appeals.

With an embarrassment of riches in both power and torque departments, the SDV6 Range Rover Sport is the consummate all-rounder.

Ample low down torque is complimented by superb throttle sensitivity, making it ideal not just for inching over treacherous obstacles but also inching into supermarket car park spaces. With all the usual safety and comfort equipment you'd expect to see at this price point, plus the Sport's impressive driving dynamics and the cabin ambience, it's clear that this second generation car has raised the bar in an already competitive market.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

TRY: Davina McLellan makes her break before she sets up Harlow's first try

Rugby club's ladies face test

HARLOW Rugby Club ladies team kick off their RFU Women's National Challenge 1 South East North League campaign with a home game against Wellingborough this Sunday.

The match starts at 2.30pm and it is expected to be a tough division this season.

Harlow rounded off their preparations by playing New Ash Green at home in a friendly on Sunday.

Ash Green, who are one league above the Rams this season, won 27-17.

Apart from one short period in the first half, the Rams held their own.

Harlow had five debutants and they were Tuesday Nathan, Elizabeth Crake, Fiona Meger, Jenny Mills and Lynn Bryant.

Harlow started well with Davina McLellan breaking from near the halfway line and setting up Sarah Stimpson for a try.

Stimpson kicked the conversion.

Ash Green struck back with three unconverted tries and they led 15-7 at half-time.

Harlow's control improved as the game wore on and McLellan and Crake touched down tries for the hosts.

At the other end, the visitors ran in two tries, one of which was converted.

HARLOW squad: Nathan, Smith, Boggas, Mockeridge, Lee, Crake, McCarthy, Dixon, Smith, Stimpson, Sturman, McLellan(C), O'Donnell, Meger, Mills, Marshall, Bryant.

Hat-trick hero Read is right on the money

ALEX Read fired in a hat-trick as Harlow Town came from behind to beat Burnham Ramblers 3-1 at home in Ryman League, division one north.

Read's class in front of goal was particularly important as striker Leon Antoine was missing from Saturday's clash because of work commitments.

Skipper Jordan Fowler was ruled out with illness while re-signed midfielder Stanley Muguo was also ruled out because of work.

The Hawks included forward Simon Alexandersson after international clearance was sorted for the player who has joined from Swedish club Hvetlanda.

Bradley Hunt put the visitors ahead in the 14th minute when he shot home from 15 yards after a cross from the right had bobbled about in the box.

There were not many chances in the first half and Hawks boss

HARLOW TN 3, BURNHAM RAMBLERS 1

Danny Chapman said: "We were not at the races in the first half and we had to read the riot act at half-time."

"I wanted the team to show how serious they are about this season and they reacted well."

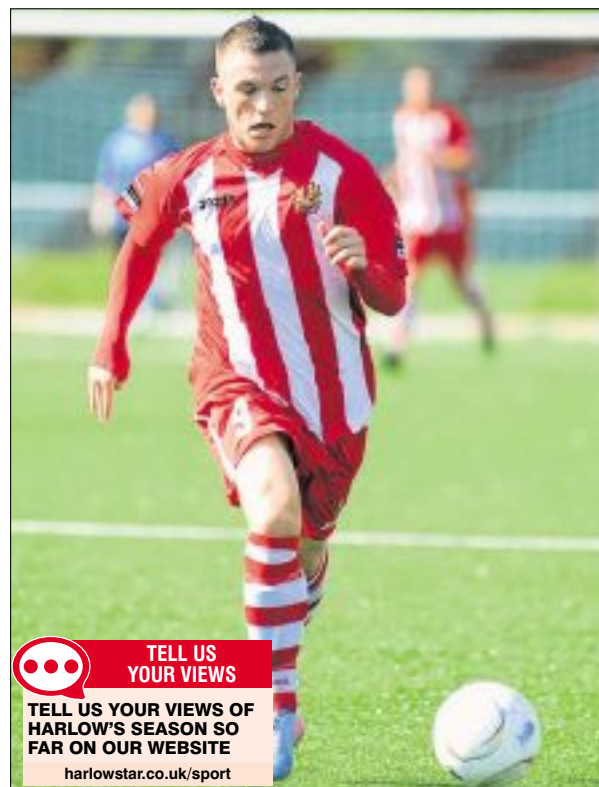

Harlow equalised in the 61st minute when a Robbie Martin cross from the left was flicked on by Darren Williams and Read shot home at the back post.

Two minutes later, Martin was again the provider.

His cross from the left was nodded in by Read.

Read almost scored a third in the 70th minute when his header from a Martin cross thudded against the visitors' bar.

Read completed his hat-trick on 82 minutes.

HAT-TRICK HERO: Harlow's in-form striker Alex Read

He latched onto a poor back pass by Mitchell Evans and then rounded Burnham's keeper to score.

Chapman added: "We dominated the second half. Alex is a natural goalscorer and if he gets half a chance he will score. You could see he read the situation well for our third goal."

"We could have scored another couple of goals. But Burnham Ramblers are not a bad side and their goal was a good one."

HARLOW TN: May, Akande, Dadson, Gliddon, D. Williams, Blewitt, Hart (Thomas 84), McKenzie, (Barnard 59), Read, Alexandersson (S. Williams 81), Martin. Att 147.

Fifth wicket century stand gives Town victory

HARLOW Town finished their season on a positive note when they beat Pegasus and Corringham by three wickets in division three of the Shepherd Neame Essex League.

Saturday's victory meant that Town finished in seventh spot in the 10-team division.

However, there was little to choose between second and seventh spot as only 26 points separated them.

Pegasus batted first and scored 238-7 in their 50 overs.

They were indebted to their opener and skipper Phil Bennett who made 116.

He received most support from Ben Francis who scored a decent knock of 34 as the pair put on 89 for the second wicket.

Left arm spinner Scott Baker took 2-50 for Town.

In reply, Town, facing a target of 4.78 per over, started well with their openers Shiraz Ali and Pat Yates putting on 50 for the first wicket.

But after they were split, Town slipped to 105-4.

However, Ramya Upadhyay and Charlie Coleman put on 101 for the fifth wicket before the former went for 54.

Coleman went on to make 62 as Town scored 240-7 to win the game.

They reached the target with three overs to spare with skipper Ashley Alderson making 14 not out.

RED CARD: Harlow's Robbie Martin was sent off at Heybridge Swifts

Hawks boss aims for FA Cup upset

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman believes his team must be at their best if they are to beat Ryman League premier division side Lowestoft Town at home in the FA Cup first qualifying round this Saturday (3pm kick-off).

Chapman said: "It is a big one. They play a league above us and if everybody plays their best I believe we can get something out of it."

Harlow Town go into the encounter on the back of their 10-man side slipping to a 2-1 defeat at Heybridge Swifts in Ryman League division one north on Tuesday.

The Hawks had left winger Robbie Martin sent off for allegedly punching a home player on 75 minutes.

Chapman said: "Their player held Robbie and Robbie has shoved him. He [the Heybridge player] went down as if he had been hit."

Harlow were drawing 1-1 but the hosts then scored another goal through substitute Tom Holdstock, who shot home on 87 minutes.

Earlier, Heybridge went ahead on three minutes through a Luke Callender shot. Four minutes later a Martin shot hit a post. Harlow made it 1-1 on 33 minute when Leon Antoine tucked home a Martin cross.

HARLOW TN: May, Akande, Barnard, Gliddon, D. Williams, Blewitt, Andersson, Muguo, Read, Antoine (Dadson 85), Martin (sent off 75). Subs not used: Hart, S. Williams, Dodge, McKenzie.

Harlow win to complete the great escape

THE great escape was completed as Harlow's classy batsman Ahmed Khawaja hit a fantastic 165 not out to help his team beat Ardleigh Green at home by 73 runs and stave off the threat of relegation from division one of the Shepherd Neame Essex Cricket League.

Saturday's victory made it four straight wins and completed a staggering turnaround.

The Marigolds side had looked doomed at the foot of the table.

Their win complemented a great season for Harlow's other senior teams.

Harlow's second team clinched second spot in division two with a four-wicket win over their Ardleigh counterparts.

The Marigolds' third and fourth teams have also won their leagues.

It was in contrast to Harlow's first team, who have been staring relegation in the face and just had to win five days ago.

Harlow batted first and started shakily.

Luke Monger made a brisk 27, but they were struggling at 48-4 and at risk of being bowled out very cheaply.

However, Khawaja was still there and he combined with young all-rounder Anthony Webb to turn the innings around.

They put on a fantastic 162-run partnership before Webb was bowled for 72.

Rizwan Sadiq came in and struck 37 from just 31 balls.

Khawaja again batted the whole innings for the second consecutive week to finish with a stunning 165 not out as the hosts finished with a huge total of 325-5 in their 50 overs.

In Ardleigh's reply Webb took two quick wickets to leave the visitors 30-2 and way behind the run rate.

Tom Ryder then continued his fine bowling form, taking the two key wickets of Oakley and Younis to leave the visitors 53-4.

A partnership of 60 from Roy

WICKET: Harlow's Anthony Webb, centre, celebrates taking a catch against Ardleigh Green

Smith and Alex Casson gave Green a slim hope.

These hopes however were extinguished by Sadiq who bowled beautifully to take 3-24 in his 10 overs to make the game safe.

The game did finish on an high for the visitors as club stalwart Smith brought up his century in the final over to score his 100th century for the club, which is an absolutely incredible achievement.

Harlow captain Luke Heskett said: "Khawaja again was a class apart and his batting has been key to our survival.

"He is an amazing cricketer, one of the best in the club's history and we look forward to him playing more innings like this one in the future.

"Ant Webb played a brilliant innings at a difficult time. The bowling and fielding was again very good which it has been for the past month."

He added: "It was a fantastic end to the season and we now need to plan and make the right additions to the squad."

Rams triumph as Canvey beckon

HARLOW Rugby Club warmed up for their opening London and South East League Three North-East match at home to Canvey Island this Saturday with a thumping 43-0 friendly win over Stevenage.

The hosts were looking forward to a stern test in their last warm up game but the opposition couldn't provide it.

Harlow executed their moves from the training field with style.

Eight minutes into the game they took clean ball from a lineout inside the Stevenage 22 and immediately set up a rolling maul. No 8 Kain Claridge peeled off with the ball and touched down for an unconverted try.

Moments later the Rams won the ball again near the halfway line. Rhys Powell launched his backs and Curtis Knightly at centre made a break, outpacing one defender and brushing off another in a 40-yard run. He then passed inside to winger Chris Webb to touch down for the try.

Dobson converted for a 12-0 lead.

Harlow's third score saw a Dobson penalty find touch about 10 yards out from the Stevenage line and Claridge again came away from the rolling maul to touch down.

Dobson was on target with the conversion from out wide to stretch Harlow's advantage to 19-0.

The visitors made one or two threatening breaks but the Harlow tackling was good and when they kicked for territory Rob Mackie was safe under the high ball.

It was Mackie who scored the next try for Harlow. The forwards had possession once again but this time passed out to the full-back who had come up into the line.

Just before half-time the forwards were in an attacking position again and this time they kept the ball in tight and drove over the line for tight head prop Dave Roze to touch down, making it 29-0 at the interval.

Stevenage played better in the second half, but further scores from flanker Josh Drake and centre Wayne Heapy, both converted, sealed an emphatic win.

Where will you live in 20 years?

Talk to the Video Pod

Places for People wants to ask members of the community where they think they, their children and their grandchildren will live in 20 years time - using the latest technology to capture their comments.

We want to get thoughts from all members of the community. A special video 'pod' on board the bus will allow people to speak to a camera and record their thoughts. There will also be traditional feedback forms for people to leave comments and any questions as well.

Over the last six years, we have been putting our proposal together for new villages at Gilston Park Estate, ensuring that there is the right mix of housing and facilities - and that we can help to regenerate Harlow.

We have spent time listening to the views of local people about what makes the existing communities special and what improvements and investment are needed.

We know the importance of schools, transport, and the use of natural resources, so we went away and made sure we came back with the solutions. We were also told how important maintaining the character of existing villages was and how much green spaces were valued. We have kept these key principles in mind as we developed our plan.

The pod, as well as feedback forms, a new website (www.northharlow.com) Facebook Page (Gilston Park Estate) and Twitter page (@GilstonPark) are all available for people to ask questions and leave their comments.

Places for People has more than forty years' experience in building new places and already owns or manages more than 140,000 homes across the UK.

We were named Housebuilder of the Year 2013 at the Building Awards for our work at Brooklands and Wolverton Park in Milton Keynes and Marlborough Park in Swindon. Our Wolverton Park development was also given the accolade of 'one of the best developments in the world' with a Global Excellence Award from the Urban Land Institute.

Whether we are involved in the regeneration of an existing area or the development of a new community, our focus is on the continued success of the places we create. We don't just build and leave. We support the people who live in our houses, whether renting or buying, to build a sense of community spirit.

"This long-term commitment and investment is what sets us apart from other developers."

Gilston Park Estate

Future homes for East Herts and Harlow

Let's talk about homes...
Let's talk about schools...
Let's talk about transport...
Let's talk about health services...

"There's a shortage of schools in the area...where will all the children go?"

"We've got that one covered. Come and see us for more information."

"Do you have to build on green belt land?"

"We have a way to make this work. Come and speak to us."

"What about play spaces and leisure?"

"We have all that sorted. Come and talk to us to see how."

"Doctors and health facilities will be pushed to the limit?"

"This is at the heart of our plans. Come along and we'll show you."

"Won't this put a strain on our roads?"

"Hop on our bus and we'll show you how this has been planned."

"Will the water and drain systems cope?"

"We've got natural resources covered. Come and see how."

You can have your say by speaking to a member of the team at one of our events, completing one of our feedback postcards, or by completing the online form on our website at www.northharlow.com

Once we have gathered all the feedback together we may decide to submit a planning application. If we do this, we will hold a more formal consultation event at which we will present the plans in a lot more detail having taken into account the views of the community.
